Russians Are Not Given Very Many Breathing Spaces Between Spirited Attacks.

MANY CLEVER MANEUVERS TRIED

Reports from Russia's Sea Victory Show It Was Not as Great as Was First Reported To Have Been.

[Special by Scripps-McLure.]
Tokio, June 17.—Survivors of the transport Hatachi Maru which was sunk by the Russian warships in the straits of Korea on Wednesday have arrived at Tokio. They say the Russian ship sighted it at seven o'clock in the morning. The Japanese attempted to escape, but at ten o'clock the Russians opened up a terrific fire, and in a few minutes the decks of the transport were covered with corpses. A shell struck the engine and killed two hundred men. At six in the evening the Hatachi Maru sank. Capt. Campbell, the English commander, jumped overboard and is missing. The chief engineer was killed. The commander of the troops ordered the flag burned when he saw all was lost and also ordered the second mate and all other officers to commit suicide.

The Battle
Tokio, June 17.—Details obtainable from the survivors of the ill-fated Japanese transports show that the Hatachi and the Sado met three Russian warships near Iki Island at 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning, and stopped them and soon afterward they torpedoed and sunk the helpless transports.

The captain of the Sado and several other men were captured. Over 100 men escaped in the boats and landed at Kaku.

A message has been received here from Hagl saying that the survivors of the Hatachi had drifted north to Shimomoseki and been saved. The transport Izumi is still missing.

Russians Leave
Tokio, June 17.—General Kuroki's right wing has occupied Hualjen-sien, driving out the Russian force there. The victory breaks another barrier between the Japanese inland army and the Russians under Kuro-patkin. News of a decisive engagement is hourly expected.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—The Vladivostok squadron has returned to Vladivostok.

Capture Telsu
London, June 17.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio says that the Japanese, after fierce fighting have captured Telsu, between Kachou and Soutanien. The Russian forces are still in the hands of the Japanese.

THE CHICAGO MARKET REPORT

Interesting Gossip From the Closing Reports of the Windy City's Mart.

Wheat.—Wheat showed a disposition to go lower, but recessions were light, news was all of the bearish kind and the main standing influence was a belief that a fair short interest existed as a result of recent bear sessions. There is talk of Armour going into the long side and this was supplemented by report that Patten crowd is feeling bullish. Session was dull, decline in Argentine shipments of about 1 1/2 per cent caused uneasiness at opening. News from northwest and from Canada was again the particularly bearish kind. Big demand is reported at Liverpool for India wheat and sales of flour for fall exports at St. Louis are said to be very small. A fair export business was reported from seaboard.

Corn.—Trend in corn was undecided early, but weak later on marketing of large lines by a big commission house. At the low prices were off 1/2c. Trade believes the selling was in expectation of a bearish rally on corn by Snow tomorrow or Monday. Primary receipts show a big decline.

Oats.—Weakness in corn affected oats, July was off 1/2c and Sept. 1/2c. Receipts are coming in more liberally. There were 112 cars today and 102 are estimated for tomorrow. Seaboard reported 70,000 bushels taken for export.

Provisions.—This market was more dull than for a week past. Prices were higher during early stages, but shorts seemed to be all in and weakness followed seemingly on the difference displayed. There were no particular trades at the close, lard and ribs were 25 to 50 lower, and pork 10 cents lower.

Japs Own View

Washington, June 17.—The Japanese legation has received the following cablegram from Tokio, dated yesterday:

"General Oku reports that on June 14 our main body advanced northward in two columns along the railway, expelling the enemy from the east of Wafangtun. At 5 p. m. the enemy made a stand on the railway line between Lungwangmiao and Tawang-shien and, after two hours' cannonading, we occupied at nightfall the line between Panchelien and Yuhoton.

"Another column, for menacing the enemy's right and covering our flank and rear, marched eastward of Poo-chow and advanced upon the line between Tenshiakow and Nachalling. The enemy near Lungwangmiao was re-entrained.

"On June 15 the enemy near Telsu consisted of two and a half divisions, occupying the positions between Tawangshien and Chengtushan. At dawn we opened attack and our main body advanced along the railway, one column marching from Tachelien.

"At 9 a. m. the left wing of the column was joined by the forces from Tungtungkow, and at noon by cavalry from Chiao-shien. Thus the enemy was surrounded by our forces near Telsu, and after severe fighting they were routed and fled northward at 3 p. m. Our losses are estimated under 1,000.

"So far as known we captured colors, fourteen quick-firers and about 300 of the enemy, including the commander of the Fourth Infantry regiment of sharpshooters.

"Over 600 of the enemy's killed and wounded were left on the battlefield. Our scouts saw the enemy marching with a Japanese flag in this engagement, by which our artillery was misled and suspended fire."

Admits Battle

St. Petersburg, June 17.—Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch, dated June 16, from General Kuropatkin: "An engagement occurred June 14 at Wafangtun (north of Port Arthur) with a Japanese force numbering at least two divisions. Our losses in killed include Colonel Khoastomov, commanding the First regiment of East Siberian Rifles of your majesty, and Second Lieutenant Dragoslav Nadochinsky, adjutant general of the regiment. The wounded include Major General Gorinov, who remained in the field, and Captain Krinsky of the general staff."

BRIEFLETS

Many Attend Dancing Party: Several young couples from this city attended a dancing party at the La Grange hall last evening. Kellogg & Conroy's orchestra furnished the music.

Many Attend Sunday School Picnic: About one hundred Sunday school children of St. John's German Lutheran church and their parents enjoyed a day's outing at Crystal Springs park yesterday. A large delegation of Harvard people were also in attendance.

On Vacation Trip: Health Commissioner W. D. Merritt and Dr. Hollapple left this noon on a ten days' vacation trip to Pollock lake, Oneida county. They will be joined at the lake by a party of St. Paul people and will spend their outing fishing in the lake and whipping the trout streams in the vicinity of Parish, Wisconsin.

Interurban Sprinkler: The interurban sprinkler, formerly car number 90, wet down the track between Beloit and Janesville today. A crowd of men were also at work trimming the trees along the right of way.

Dog License Difficulty: City Clerk Badger and City Treasurer Fathers who have been examining the city charter with reference to the matter say that all the money that comes into the treasury of the city from the dog license tax must go to the school fund and that all that goes out to pay running expenses must be taken from the general fund. Hence a loss to the city. City Attorney Barpee, not speaking ex cathedra however, says that he does not think that this method will obtain and calls attention to the fact that hunting license money is not paid into the educational fund of the state, though the law would seem to compel it.

Frank C. Travers of New York and Judge Edward J. Garvan of Hartford, Conn., were guests of President Roosevelt at a luncheon at the white house yesterday. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California is a house guest of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

NO HOPE FOR DEMOCRACY.

The action of the Illinois Democratic State Convention in endorsing Hearst for the presidency shows that the party is still hopelessly divided. While the conservative eastern states are strong enough to control the entire element in the party, the western states with rare exception are as wild and woolly as they were during the Bryan campaign.

Mr. Hearst, through his string of yellow journals, appeals to prejudice by denouncing corporate wealth, and posing as the friend of the poor man. He says but little and cares less, about national issues.

Mr. Bryan as his right bower, urges upon the party the theories set forth in the Kansas City platform. Free silver, under the old title, is kept in the back ground, but it is the one issue that continues to rend the democratic party. Bryan's old supporters are now shouting for Hearst and they represent a majority of the party.

Under these conditions there is but little hope for democracy. Should the conservative element succeed in nominating Judge Parker, the Hearst element will not support him, and should the Hearst men win, the Parker men will vote for Roosevelt or stay at home.

It is to be regretted that democracy does not recover from the effects of heresy, for the fact is generally recognized that socialism is gaining strength as a political party, through disaffection in the ranks of the democratic party.

Wisconsin furnishes an object lesson along this line. The democratic party has long posed as the party of the common people. The governor of the Badger state recognized this fact when he talked about "God's patient poor," and then invited their support as "fair minded democrats." It mattered not to him that this support was largely from the saloon element of the party, because self respecting democrats could not be influenced. Votes in the primaries, was what he wanted, and the Bryan and Hearst democrat was ready to respond.

La Folletteism has cursed the state for four years, because "fair minded democrats" of the class under discussion, made it possible to keep his name before the people. They controlled his caucuses two years ago, and were more largely in evidence this year.

It will be a good thing for the state, as well as for the country at large, when democracy discovers some common ground on which the party can unite.

A LOSING ISSUE.

The Wall Street Journal has the following sensible editorial on the fight now being made by organized labor against the open shop:

"More and more it has become clear that the issue of the closed shop cannot be made good by the labor organizations. Public opinion, which on the whole inclines in favor of the labor unions, as regards their right of organization and collective bargaining as to wages and hours of labor is strongly opposed to their demand for the closed shop. Moreover, the courts are deciding against the labor unions in cases involving this issue. In the well known Kellogg Switchboard case of Chicago, the Appellate Court of Illinois has decided against the labor organizations which ordered a strike when the Kellogg Co. refused to make its factory a closed shop, and which picketed the factory when the strike was begun in order to prevent the company from employing new men to take the place of the strikers. The court held that the action of the labor organizations constituted criminal conspiracy, and that each conspirator was responsible for the acts of every other conspirator. Moreover, it showed that the presence of the pickets for the avowed purpose of preventing the new employees of the company from remaining in its employ, was in itself intimidation, even though no actual force was used.

This decision, it will be observed, covers several important points involving the question of strikes, boycotts and intimidation. But the main feature is the fact that the whole controversy was caused by the refusal of the company to close its shop against all non-union men. There is no question whatever that the closed shop issue which the labor organizations are pushing so vigorously, is the one demand made by the labor organizations which is contributing most largely to the growth of an antagonistic public opinion.

The organization of employers which is going on throughout the country would have comparatively little significance but for this issue of closed shop which brings to it a large measure of public support. As a whole, it may be said that the people of the United States are with the labor unions so far as their organization is concerned, and in respect to their demand for better wages and better conditions of work, both of which produce a higher quality of product. But when they go so far as to seek an absolute monopoly of labor by demanding of their employers that no one not a member of the unions shall be employed, they strike at the sentiment of fair play and love of liberty which prevails among the great body of the people.

AN UNSAVORY ODOR.

The examination of State Insurance Commissioner Zeno M. Host, in the interests of the Prudential Life Insurance company, is throwing some light on proceedings which have excited suspicions and which led the insurance company to commence legal proceedings against the insurance commissioner to recover $21,000, collected for examination services.

The investigation shows that a liberal percentage of this money was distributed among men now in state employ, and drawing good salaries. The Attorney General's office shared in the dividend and the whole thing has an unsavory outlook.

When the new administration comes in a number of this will be removed. For extravagance, under the guise of reform, the present regime discounts any thing in the history of the state.

The army of game wardens and other cheap employees, who have creased over the state at public expense are constant reminders of the fact that public money comes easy, and goes without effort. It is high time to call a halt and see where we are at. "Grinding corporations" may be a menace to the state, but political corruption in high places is more than a menace.

The Hell Gate horror has no parallel in the history of the country. Of the 1635 passengers on the ill-fated steamer General Slocum, only a handful are left to tell the tale. This little company composed largely of women and children, out for a holiday, represented numerically the population of a good sized town. Surrounded by fire and water, they met death without warning. It was fire and water and there was no escape.

Various reports are in circulation, as to the cause of the accident. One to the effect that the boat was unseaworthy. Another that she was overloaded. The latter seems the most reasonable. If either are correct, some one is responsible for carelessness which merits most severe punishment.

The charge of murder is a serious charge, and men who are found guilty in the case of a single individual are called upon to pay the penalty.

It is always difficult to place the blame when great catastrophes occur, and more difficult to push the guilty parties, but public sentiment demands a searching investigation, as it will in the case of the "Slocum."

A department store in Indianapolis has just made a contract with the "Star" of that city for a page ad every day for 6 months, paying for the same $120.00 each issue. The manager is an old advertiser and a firm believer in the liberal use of printer's ink.

A little magazine called "The Voter" published in Chicago, sizes up the Wisconsin situation from an unprejudiced standpoint, and is well worth reading. The editor is Henry Barrett Chamberlain, Stock Exchange, Chicago. Subscription price $1.00 per year.

There are some drawbacks to the office of State Insurance Commissioner, as Mr. Host is discovering. The Prudential Life is a "soulless corporation" and a little fee of $21,000 is hardly worth considering.

Janesville is to be congratulated for enterprise on a Fourth of July celebration. It promises to be a good one.

CAPT. NORCROSS WELCOMED HOME

MET AT DEPOT BY BAND AND GRAND ARMY.

COL. KIMBERLEY ON STAFF

Receives Appointment of Assistant Adjutant General—Headquarters of State in Phoenix Block.

Department Commander Pliny Norcross of the state Grand Army of the Republic was met at the depot by the Imperial band, the W. H. Sargent Post, and friends last evening and escorted to the courthouse park where congratulatory remarks by the comrades and a response by the newly elected officer were forthcoming. Commander C. D. Child called on Past Commander Carlo to make the opening remarks. He said in part: "Comrades—Forty years ago our country needed defenders. Forty years ago our flag was fired on and they called for volunteers. Coming from the hillsides and the valleys, from the shops and from the schools were the boys of whom we have here the remnant. We stand in the shadow of the monument erected to those who fought for equal rights. The Sargent Post, conceived the idea some time ago of providing from its ranks the leaders of the state Grand Army for next year. We presented the name of Capt. Pliny Norcross. The comrades all over the state said 'Yes!' And we elected for department commander a citizen of Janesville of whom everyone may be proud. We come here tonight after our victory. We have been escorted by the band. We thank you all for coming out—we shall remember it long. I now propose three rousing cheers for Capt. Norcross."

Capt. Norcross Responds
After the cheers had been given Commander Norcross was next called upon. He said: "Comrades—A man doesn't amount to much without friends and if he has such friends as the W. H. Sargent post he may well be proud. I thank you. I am satisfied that you accomplished your purpose. There was a good strong organization against its fulfillment. It is late in the day and I am tired. If you will come to my house tomorrow night or any other time I shall be glad to welcome you. I am proud of the honor but more proud of the boys in the home city. You accomplished your purpose and the honor belongs to you, not to me."

Assistant Adjutant General
It was announced that Commander Norcross had appointed as Assistant Adjutant General on his staff Col. E. O. Kimberley of Janesville and the latter was called upon for a speech or song. The colonel thanked his fellow members of the post for the work they had done in electing that magnificent Commander Norcross and asked to be excused from speaking further or singing as his voice was not in good condition. There was a movement to adjourn when someone sang out:

"We'll be loaded tomorrow night, Captain!"

"I wouldn't give much for a soldier who was not," replied Capt. Norcross, Grinnell of Beloit.
Comrade Grinnell, commander of the Beloit post, spoke of visiting the W. H. Sargent post in Janesville at the time when efforts were being made to induce Capt. Norcross to make the run for department commander. "He said very generously that it belonged to another man, but that night I promised to do my best toward securing his election. In Madison I felt the pulse of the state and it was normal in his favor. It was work, but it was a joyful work. We see the result of the election. We have brought home a department commander. I thank the comrades for allowing his name to go before the encampment."

Trustee for Three Years
Comrade Bear, elected a trustee for three years, said that it would be useless for him to attempt to add anything to what had already been said. He had been complimented through his selection by the state at large and wished to thank those who had aided in his success. Past Commander Harlow then proposed and read the Grand Army cheer. The band played a selection and the gathering dispersed. Tonight the comrades will assemble at their hall and will later adjourn to the new department commander's home.

Headquarters in Janesville
The headquarters of the Grand Army of the state will be in the Phoenix block, Janesville, during the coming year. The office of assistant adjutant general has a salary of $1,000 attached but a considerable portion of it goes to Assistant Quartermaster General Fred Bird who is in charge of the headquarters at Madison and who devotes his exclusive attention to the work. The balance of the staff will be appointed by Commander Norcross sometime within the next fortnight. The election at Madison was a hotly contested one at the beginning though Capt. Norcross' victory was early conceded. He received 280 votes and his competitor, Prof. Duncan McGregor of Platteville, 143.

Notice
All members of Canton, Janesville, No. 9, Patriarchs Militant, are requested to be present at the meeting of Rock River Encampment, No. 3, I. O. O. F., to consider plans for Rockford picnic on June 23d, Jas. A. Fathers, Commandant.

CITY COUNCIL MET IN SECRET SESSION

Last Evening to Caucus on the Matter of Locating the New Fire Station—North Side Favored

Resolving itself into a committee of the whole the city council met in secret session last evening and discussed the matter of the location of the new fire station in the south section of the city. While Mum was the word today it is understood that a decision was reached to stand out against the Spring Brook petitioners and locate the fire station on the north side of the bridge. However, there are some who believe that the final word in the matter has not yet been spoken.

SCHEMES OF THE FOXY J. BEESLEY

To Become a Wealthy Man Without Work Are Exposed—Wife Seeking a Divorce

John Beesley whose arrest in Rockford was noted on Tuesday in the Gazette has been found to be fairly well off in wealth. He had concealed about his person money and negotiable paper to the value of $5,000 while at his home near Beloit; gold and bank notes were unearthed in a secret receptacle beneath the floor amounting to $3,000 or more. Claims against the man have been filed by L. O. Storlock and Cunningham Bros. of Beloit and his wife has sued for divorce and separate maintenance and has served on the heretofore an injunction preventing him from turning over any money to creditors until her claim is satisfied. Five state warrants, two charging grand larceny have been issued and four are in reserve to re-arrest Beesley when he shall have been released from his present charge. The police say that the man had intended to depart for another trip to Europe this week and had gathered the money together for the purpose. Just before his departure for England at the time he is alleged to have given the mortgages, real and bogus, on his town of Beloit property, Beesley bought at a Beloit bank a draft for $11,000 on the Bank of England. The banker says he always carried an account of more than $2,000 and yet had given sale notes, bearing 6 per cent interest to several parties. The bank had been offered these notes but thinking that all was not right had refused to discount them. When asked about the notes Beesley is said to have intimated that he had no intention of meeting them when they fell due. This apparently was the plan for accumulating a snug little fortune before leaving these shores. Building and plumbing materials have disappeared from houses under construction where he had been employed and a car of jewelry, supposedly stolen by him has been found.

PARTICIPANTS IN KEG PARTY CHASED

Frank Nichols and Billy Brooks Pursued by Officers Yesterday—Nichols Captured.

An open air keg party in broad daylight followed by revels and orgies usually concealed under the charitable wing of night started Officers Brown and Cochran on the trail of Frank Nichols and "Billy" Brooks on Tuesday. The festival of Bacchus was held on the Milwaukee property in Monterey. Yesterday the officers caught sight of the two offenders on Milwaukee street and chased them to the Fourth Ward park and beyond. Most of the afternoon was spent in an attempt to lay hands on them and finally Nichols was captured on Locust street and taken to the jail. Reports were circulated that these young men had broken into two houses on Cherry street but these rumors appear to have had no foundation.
